Gizmodo staff use their social media to blog about what they do after work and where they go for night-clubbing and hooking up. We took that as a publicly promoted invitation to join them for socializing. We spent 3 months "bumping into" Gizmodo writers and editors after work. This is what we found out.

Gizmodo is Gawker Media under a different title. The name is slightly different, but the people, political agenda and mission are exactly the same. Gizmodo is Gawker Media trying to evade Peter Thiel, and other past victims, of the Gawker/Gizmodo commercial character assassination services created by Nick Denton.

The conversations, invites and insights we were offered overshadowed even the darkest rumors about Gizmodo.

A large part of Gizmodo is comprised of angry homosexuals looking for social payback against society. They spent a large part of their time spare time talking about who put their penis in whose mouth, or anus, and how they can get their penis in whose mouth or anus. The main reason they work at Gizmodo is to get enough money to buy rent-boys or to pay for enough fancy Gotham drinking to get their target Bill Cosby'd into a compliant state.

Another part of Gizmodo is comprised of drug-culture enthusiasts who plan their nightly drug intake like a gym enthusiast plans his workout. This group is rarely on time to work in the morning. This group has a demonstrably large set of sociopathic and schizophrenic modality expressions.

Another part of Gizmodo are DNC operatives who live, breath and dream of policy wonk and DNC "Dirty Tricks" campaigns. Their gods are John Podesta, Elon Musk, Sidney Blumenthal and Mark Zuckerberg. A large part of this group are Jewish kids with at least 22 years of cultural hatred programmed into them by far left Jewish parents. They want to believe that the GOP are all secretly Palestinians and the political bosses behind Gizmodo encourage that kind of "hate-think".

Gizmodo hires deeply disturbed people in a smart way. Gizmodo bosses seek out public patsies to try to rig public political perceptions so that voters will steer things in a way that make Gizmodo's bosses richer.

When Gizmodo, like Gawker, gets bankrupted, Gizmodo owners will walk away scott free while the naive young perverts of Gizmodo get sued instead. It is a brilliant use of the mentally ill for corporate profiteering and politicking manipulation. The little perverts get used as sheep in a game of White House control that they are the key pawns in.

The top tier management at Gizmodo (and it's clones: Jalopnik, etc.) use a parental corporate trick of HR brainwashing in which they privately confide to each writer that they are on a "grand mission" where all evil is for "the greater good." Gizmodo's partner in these "greater goods" is Google. Google is notorious for it's motto: "don't do evil" that later turned into the biggest irony on the web.

Gizmodo management use Hitler's indoctrination tools. This is another interesting Gizmodo irony because many Gizmodians are Jewish. Gizmodo bosses also enjoy pushing the DNC party-line that "all Jews must become Democrats" and that "...Jewish Democrats must destroy Republicans because Republicans want to take away your drugs and anal sex and put you in ovens..."

After hours, Gizmodo workers seem far less concerned about the ovens than they do about the potential loss of their drugs and anal sex.

Just as anal-sex fanatic Nick Denton, a covert advisor to the current Gizmodo, taught them; Gizmodo bosses reinforce hate and anger that they can uncover in potential hires. They amplify it and give the naive kids (that they find on New York's streets) a contrived rationalization to blame every ill on Conservatives. They then suggest and/or approve only articles that will damage those they are hired to harm.

"Hired-to-harm" is a legal term one must pay attention to. Under a series of laws and cyber-stalking rulings, if anyone can show that Gizmodo was hired to ham someone, the legal and branding effects on Gizmodo will be terminal.

In the New York Magazine expose on Gawker/Gizmodo: "Everybody Sucks": <http://nymag.com/news/features/39319/> ; the Taki Magazine expose: "Hypocrites Vs. Douche Canoes" http://takimag.com/article/gawker_media_hypocrites_vs_douchecanoes/print ; and thousands of other examinations of the character assassination niche that Nick Denton operates, the conclusions are always the same. The Gawker/Gizmodo operations are not "journalism" they are political propaganda operations for the DNC!

Gizmodo is an epic tax evasion and revenue hiding operation. It uses offshore fronts, with an epic number of levels, to illicitly hide profits, political payola and scam-cash. James Comey, at the FBI, had over 30 entities report these crimes to his office and nothing happened. Was Cover-up Comey protecting Gawker/Gizmodo/Univision because they lead straight back to Obama and Clinton bank accounts? Probably. We have heard from a number of people that all of their witness statements are being re-submitted to Trump's FBI to see if, maybe, this time around, justice can get ahead of corruption.

In the modern age, everyday brings a new tale of Pro-DNC violence, Pro-Dnc shootings and Pro-DNC rage and hatred. Nick Denton created this "hate as public policy" program and the DNC has now slipped off the deep edge of the cliff as they take it to the most extreme depths.

Gawker/Gizmodo are simply elementary school abuse social-deviance extended into near-adulthood.

The things that pre-teens abused each other on the playground with (“your fat mother sucks pickles..”) have been commercialized and sold to Obama and Clinton party bosses by Nick Denton and Univision.

Gizmodo is the essence of fake news, kneepad journalism and journo-shills.

Everyone in the world should be on the phone and on their email to every advertiser of Gizmodo in order to shame them and bankrupt those advertisers into cutting off their accounts with the screed that is Gizmodo and Univision.

Stay tuned for more on this topic...
